

The Gow School – College Advising Program

Introductory Research List

Colleges with Comprehensive Support Programs or Strong Services*

This list is meant to be a starting point in your search for the right college for you. Not every college is listed, and many good schools and programs have not yet been reviewed. The information in the list was compiled by Charles Brown, Director of College Counseling at The Gow School. It comes from a variety of sources in print, from personal experience, and from interviews with college support personnel. As college curricula, budgets, staffing and programs change over time, some of the information contained in this list may become outdated. Remember that YOU are responsible for researching your own future - follow up your interest in schools on this list with phone calls, web searches, and visits to campuses.
